Summary

I went to school for Computer Engineering then shifted over to Computer Science since it was closer to my passion. Unfortunately did not finish, but my passion for CS and tech followed me in every job I took going forward. If there was ever a tech problem, I would be the first "line of defense" before calling in the IT department. In my role as Assistant Manager at New Seasons I would assist my coworkers with apps that had trouble loading data, issues with logins, and even creating macros in excel to speed up and give a better view of sales and waste on a weekly basis that led to less time off the floor. I've since gone through Google's IT Certification program, which helped prep me in passing the CompTIA A+ Certification Exam, recommended to be taken with 9-12 months of experience.
